The utmost harmony prevailed Messas B. F. Northcott, M. F. ra ker and J.

Mesors B. F. Northeott, M. F. ra ker and J. B. Moors:
GENTS-I acknowledge and highly appreciate your invitation, as committee men. to meet your proposed useding of our triends and neighbors, regardless of race or color I regret my private duties are such it will by impossible forme to be with you. Feeling, as I certainly do, a deep and abiling interest in the peace and prosperity of our common country, write you a few suggestions which, if you desire, you may read before your meeting. Tout this is a serious a fifart upon our hitherto pisasant and happy community, no man of a monent's thought can fail to see. I regret, seriously, the calumities that are upon us as a people. That wrongs and blunders have been committed by someoody is apparent, but as these wrongs cannot be recalled intit to our highest aim to take procautionary measures to prevent the occurrence of similar or worse wrongs. We have our laws,our courts or worse wrongs. We have our laws,our courts emi, but as these wrongs cannot be recalled at it be our bighest aim to take precautionary measures to prevent the occurrence of similar or worse wrongs. We have our law, our courts are upon, we have officers of own selection to emforce them. If I understand the object of pour meeting, it is to try to give generates to peaces and law abiding citizens recardless of raise of color, evidences that you will space no pairs in your power to put down a mob spirit, let it be found where it may; that the white men by every word, action or deed show to the world their anhormer of men marsaiding over the country under disguise, thereby precipitating cod citizents into troubs; that the colored man with equal energy-for we are all equally interested—use their efforts to provent any of their race from committing any lawless acts. It does seem to me that policy and self-sinteres, I nothing else, should prompt overy man to this course. No possible good can result from a war of races. A reign of terror will be its legitimate results, and I do hope that every white man and colored m-n will pledge himself to frown down all attempts at [awlesness. Let each one in aspirit of harmony extend the clitic branch of poace, one to the other-that men of all celors may feel safe at home with their families. Allow me again to rever to the last that I regard your effects to restore power and harmony in the community as wise and landable. My humble conviction is that one week of excitement, such as we have had to enough to sicken the heart of every well meaning man. Thus, none but had men giout and futter upon anarchy. To the Judicial, Ministerial and at Peace Officers, and to the people of Tennessee.

The means at the command of the chief exemitive of the State are wholly inadequate to the enforcement of the law, without the marry co-operation of all civil officers, supported by a healthy public sentiment. Appeals are daily made to this office for military assistance, or for authority to organize cosmales. The recent atrocities in the State nave engendered a feverish and unustoral excitament.
